Individual export from a Producer document

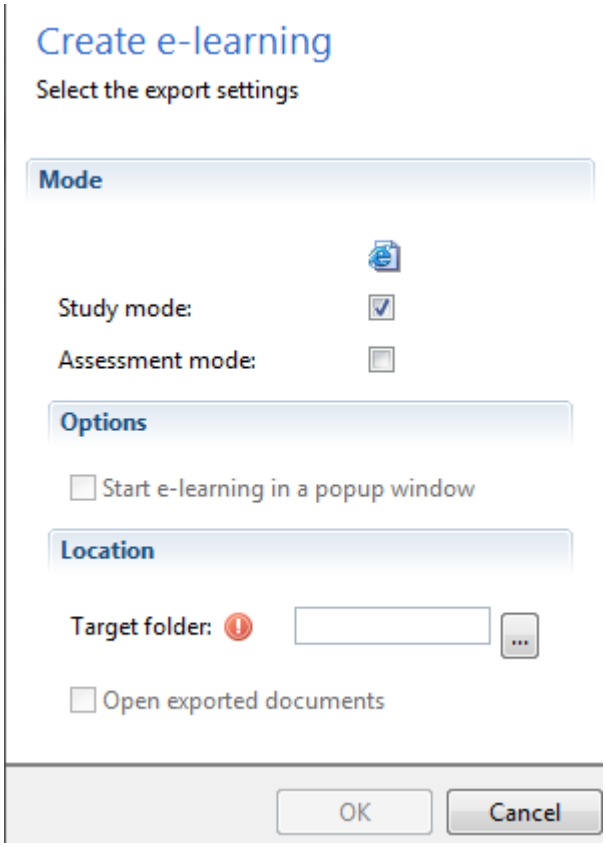
This documentation shows how to export e-learning or documentation individually from a Producer document.

You have the option of exporting an e-learning or documentation individually from a Producer document. To do so, simply select the appropriate button on the Exports tab in the local workspace.

E-learning export

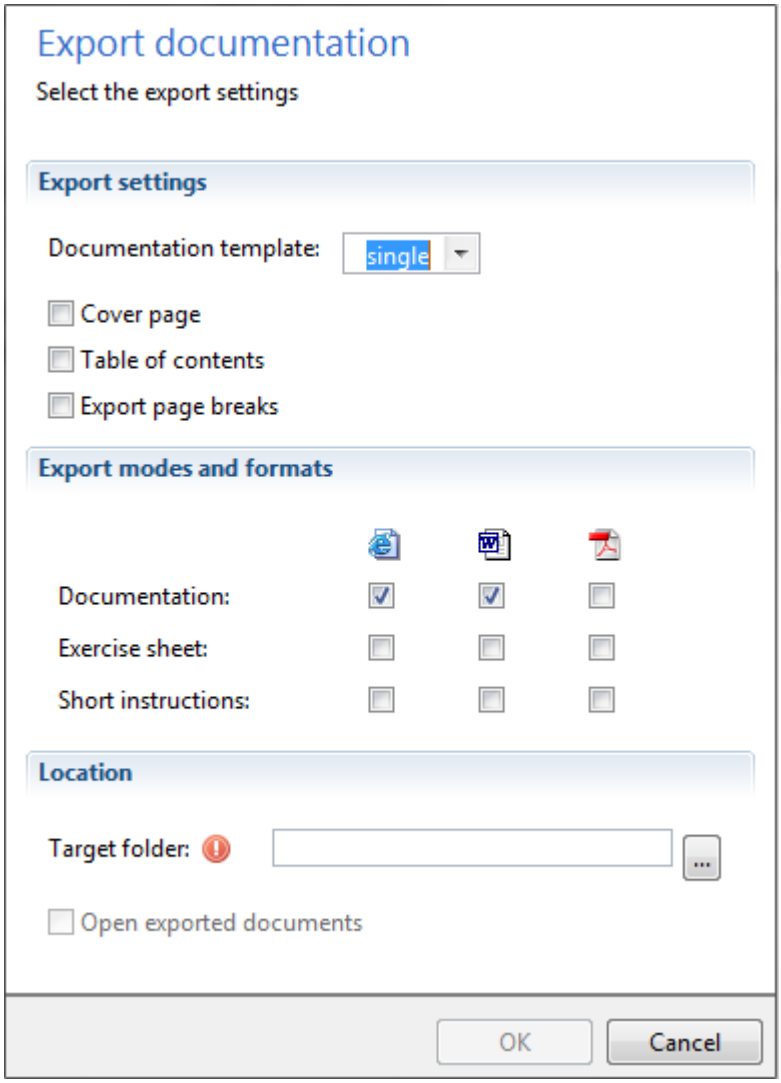
You can then define the desired export settings. In the case of an e-learning, in addition to setting the Study or Assessment mode you can also specify that the e-learning is to be opened and played in a new window. You then need to select the storage location. The resulting document can also be opened immediately for viewing.

It's also possible to create a video from an e-learning. To do so, simply select the Export video function from the document's context menu.



Documentation export

In the case of documentation, you need to select the template in which the desired layout is stored. You can also introduce other design-related settings, such as whether the documentation is to include a cover page, table of contents or page breaks. Furthermore, you also need to decide whether the documentation is to be made available in the Word, PDF or HTML format. You then need to select the storage location. The resulting document can also be opened immediately for viewing.



Export documentation
Select the export settings
Export settings
Documentation template:
single Cover page
Table of contents
Export page breaks
Export modes and formats
Documentation:
Exercise sheet:
Short instructions:
Location
Target folder:
...
Open exported documents
OK
Cancel